The surname Willcockson, meaning son of Willcock, is spelled Wilcoxson, Wilcoxon, Wilcoxen, Willcocks, Willcox and Wilcox, interchangeably. Daniel Willcockson, and most of his siblings and issue in Kentucky, generally used the spelling Wilcoxson.

John Willcockson has been identified as the son of George Willcockson and Elizabeth Powell.<sup>1</sup> Sarah Boone was a daughter of Squire Boone and Sarah Morgan, who moved from Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, to Rowan County, North Carolina in 1750.<sup>2</sup>

Elizabeth Powell, who married George Willcockson, was a daughter of Rowland Powell and Maud Richard who were married in 1695.<sup>3</sup> George Willcockson came to Pennsylvania from Cossal, Nottinghamshire, England:<sup>4</sup>

Wilcox (or Wilcoxson) sometime of Cossal

... John Wilcoxson of Cossal, Notts., was father of George Wilcoxson of Cossal, Notts., and afterwards of Pennsylvania where he m. 15 April 1719, Elizabeth, daughter of Rowland Powell, a native of Wales, and d. 1739. His son, John Wilcox moved to North Carolina in 1750-2, Member of Assembly 1771, served in the American Revolution, moved to Kentucky before 1782, m. 1742 Sarah, dau. of Squire Boone of Pennsylvania (b. Manchester, England, 25 Nov. 1696; d. 1 Jan. 1765), later of Rowan Co., N. Carolina, by Sarah his wife (b. 1700; m. 23 July 1720; and d. 1777), daughter of Edward Morgan of Gwynedd, Montgomery Co., Pa. (a town settled by a colony of Welshmen in 1698, where he purchased 300 acres in 1711), and formerly of Philadelphia. This Edward Morgan (b.

1678-9; d. 1718), according to family records was a son of Sir James Morgan, 4th Bt. of Llantarnam by a first marriage to Anne (by whom he had a dau. Sarah, b. 1676, who m. 1691, Stephen Beasley, and settled in Philadelphia), dau. of Judge Richard Hopton of Bishop Frome, later of Canon Frome (and his wife Susan, dau. of Sir William Harvey), Chief Justice of N. Wales, temp. Charles II and James II, and first cousin therefore of Sir James's second wife, Alice, widow of Nicholas Jones (whom she had m. 13 April 1683), and dau. of Sir Edward Hopton of Canon Frome (see that family in Landed Gentry of Great Britain), by Deborah (d. 13 July 1702), dau. of Robert Hatton. Sir James Morgan d. 30 April 1718, when the Baronetcy appears to have become extinct (but see The Morgan Family by James Appleton Morgan). John Wilcox was killed by Indians at battle of Bryant Station, Kentucky, 1782. His son, Lieut.-Col. George Wilcox, of Shelby Co., Kentucky, J.P. (1801), High Sheriff (1811), served in the War of 1812 with 8th Kentucky Militia, b. 1766; m. 1789, Elizabeth (b. in London 1774; d. 1814), dau. of John Pinchbeck ...

This genealogical sketch contains several inaccuracies, which do not necessarily diminish the credibility of most of the statements. George Wilcox of Shelby County, Kentucky, whose family used that spelling of the surname, was a son of George Willcockson, Jr. and a nephew of John Willcockson who married Sarah Boone. George Willcockson, Jr. married Elizabeth Hall. John Willcockson was not killed at Bryan's Station in 1782. He was alive in North Carolina in 1790 and 1798.<sup>5</sup> Squire Boone was born in Devonshire, England, not Manchester. He married Sarah Morgan on 23 September 1720; not in January.<sup>6</sup> Edward Morgan built his house in Towamencin Township in 1695 and the deeds for the land were dated in 1708 and 1714.<sup>7</sup>

James Appleton Morgan confused the marriage sequence of Sir James Morgan by publishing that his first wife was Anne Hopton, widow of Nicholas Jones, and that she bore one son, Edward Morgan, who died in infancy. He identified the second wife of Sir James as Alice Hopton, the mother of Sarah Morgan, who married Stephen Beasley, and Edward Morgan, the father of Sarah Morgan Boone.<sup>8</sup> A chronological analysis of the facts proves that Sir James Morgan of Llantarnam had to be married first to Anne Hopton and then to Alice Hopton Jones. Edward Morgan, who, traditionally, was the father of Sarah Morgan Boone, and Sarah Morgan Beasley had to be children of the first marriage.<sup>9</sup>

Supporting proof of the Burke lineage has not been found but it is substantiated by the evidence that has been located. George Willcockson and Elizabeth Powell were married on the 15th of the 2nd month 1719:<sup>10</sup>

Page 37 George Wilcockson, son of John Wilcockson of Nottingham, Great Britain and Elizabeth Powel, daughter of Rowland Powel of Haverford married in meetinghouse in Haverford 2.15.1719

George Willcockson died before 25 October 1739 in Chester County, when Elizabeth Willcockson was granted administration of his estate, against a bond in the amount of 160 pounds, secured by Philip Yarnall and Joseph Pugh.<sup>11</sup> Elizabeth Powell Willcockson died shortly thereafter because the administration of her estate occurred in 1740. Philip Yarnall, administrator for Elizabeth Wilcox, widow and relict of George Wilcox, her late husband, who had died intestate leaving several children to survive them, particularly Mary Wilcox, aged about five years, who needed support, petitioned the court for Mary Wilcox to be bound out to John Yarnall until age eighteen, and to be taught to read and write, and "housifrey."<sup>12</sup>

JOHN WILLCOCKSON

Philip and John Yarnall provide a thread of circumstantial evidence connecting George and Elizabeth Powell Willcockson with the Boone family. After the death of Samuel Boone, brother of Squire Boone, Sr., his widow Elizabeth Cassel Boone married Joseph Yarnall, son of Francis Yarnall and Hannah Baker, on the 29th of the 07th month, 1748.<sup>13</sup> The relationship between Philip, John and Joseph Yarnall has not been determined, but they must have been kin.

There is another connection between the Willcocksons of Chester County and the Boones of Lancaster County which supports the theory that John Willcockson, who married Sarah Boone, was the son of George Willcockson and Elizabeth Powell. When the parents of Elizabeth Powell Willcockson, Rowland Powell and Maud Richard, were married in 1695, William and Mary Howell witnessed the ceremony.<sup>14</sup> Their daughter Deborah Howell married George Boone IV, an uncle of Sarah Boone Willcockson, in 1713.<sup>15</sup> This coincidence establishes a social relationship between the Powells and Boones that could have resulted in the meeting of John Willcockson and Sarah Boone. When the children of George and Elizabeth Powell Willcockson were orphaned, it is conceivable that Deborah Howell Boone arranged for their sons to go to her father-in-law for employment. Squire Boone reputedly operated a substantial weaving business, so it is plausible that John Willcockson was a weaver in the employ of Boone. It is known that John lived with the Boone family before he married Sarah.

George Willcockson was also a weaver and his residence in Uwchlan Township, Chester County, was about fifteen to twenty miles from the Boone home in Lancaster County. If the eldest child of George and Elizabeth Powell Willcockson was a son, born soon after their marriage in 1719, he would be of the approximate age of John Willcockson who married Sarah Boone. Presuming that the eldest child of George Willcockson was eighteen or nineteen years old when George died about 1739, he may have assumed responsibility for younger brothers, without enactment of official guardianship or apprenticeship papers.

George Willcockson, who apparently lived with Squire Boone, Sr. at the same time as John Willcockson, probably was George, Jr. He was identified as a relative of John Willcockson by Isaiah Boone, a nephew of Daniel Boone:<sup>16</sup>

George Wilcoxon a young man entirely unacquainted with the practical use of a gun, expressed a desire to go out a deer-hunting. For this purpose, he borrowed Squire Boone's long musket, and requested Mr. Boone to load it for him over night, that he might lay it away for early morning use. During the evening, Miller and young Boone learning this sporting design, quietly took away the musket from its position, drew the ball, & put in load enough for half a dozen ordinary charges, and carefully replaced it. On the morrow at peep of day, Young Wilcoxon shouldered his gun and started out to try his luck ... and after he had started, Miller and Boone began to have their misgivings lest the over-loaded musket should burst, and kill or seriously injure Wilcoxon.

About sun-rise they heard a loud report, like a small cannon, some distance off, and, soon after, much to their relief, discovered Wilcoxon approaching ... his face all covered with blood ... nose and face badly bruised and a deep gash in his forehead ... not of a serious character, enquired if he had shot at a deer and with what success? Yes, he had a pretty fair shot at a short distance; described the glade ... but, from the mingled effects of pain and fear, could not tell what had become of the deer ... Miller and Boone went to the spot indicated, and there found the deer dead. This George Wilcoxon was a relative of John Wilcoxon, who, about this period, married Boone's eldest sister Sarah ...

Miller and young Boone, the pranksters of the episode, were Henry Miller and Daniel Boone. Miller, who was several years older than Daniel Boone, was employed by Squire Boone in his gunshop. He and Daniel were close companions for many years.<sup>17</sup>

The description of George Willcockson and Daniel Boone as young suggests that they were boys. Daniel Boone, who was born in 1734, would have been eight years old in 1742. Going out to hunt alone, George Willcockson probably was in his early teens, perhaps born about 1730, which could make him a younger brother of John Willcockson.

The exact date of the marriage of John Willcockson and Sarah Boone has not been determined, but it was shortly before the 29th of the 5th month, 1742. They were married in the part of Lancaster County that became Berks County in 1752. The Boones were members of the Exeter Meeting of the Society of Friends and John Willcockson was not, so, when John and Sarah married, she and her parents were condemned by the Quakers for her act:<sup>18</sup>

5-29, 1742, Sarah, daughter of Squire Boone, treated with for marrying out.

5-29, 1742, Sarah Boone married out of unity with Friends, (1st offence of this kind). Friends appointed to speak to the father, Squire Boone.

6-26, 1742, Squire Boone declareth he did not countenance or consent to the marriage but confesseth himself in fault in keeping them in his house after their keeping company but that he was in a great streight in not knowing what to do, and hopeth to be more careful in the future.

It is evident, from the wording of the confession of Squire Boone to the Friends of Exeter Meeting, that John Willcockson and Sarah Boone had been living together in the house of her father, who admitted that he had failed to keep them apart, "after their keeping company." Squire did not attempt to dignify the relationship by saying, "after they were married." In stating that he, "did not countenance or consent to the marriage," Boone undoubtedly was saying that he did not approve of their intimacy, but that, after it happened, he was remiss in permitting them to continue the relationship without the benefit of the blessings of the law or the clergy. Marriage in this instance probably was spontaneous and by consent and intention, rather than by formal ceremony; a not uncommon procedure in the wilderness, where ministers and justices were scarce. Had a marriage been anticipated, John Willcockson could have been accepted into fellowship with the Friends, by a simple request for membership after professing belief in their principles. In this instance it appears that Squire and Sarah Morgan Boone were subject to stronger criticism than is recorded in this portion of the church minutes, because Sarah was pregnant when the marriage took place. The Boone family's difficulties with the Quakers began earlier, when Squire Boone's sister Mary married John Webb in 1720, and ended when Squire's eldest son Israel married out of unity in 1747:<sup>19</sup>

Once again the Boones fell out of harmony with the Friends. Sarah, Daniel's eldest sister, had fallen in love with a young man named Wilcoxon, and in 1742 married him though he was not a Quaker. She was promptly censured by the Exeter Meeting for "marrying out," as were her mother and father for allowing it, and all three expressed contrition. But Squire Boone said, "that he was in a great streight in not knowing what to do, seeing he was somewhat Sensible that they had been too Conversant before.”

That Sarah and her young man had been “too Conversant” was already a community rumor and, if true, a transgression the Meeting could hardly overlook. A committee of Quaker ladies was appointed to look into the question and counting backward, “found the truth of a former suspicion vis., that Sarah Wilcoxen, daughter of Squire Boone, was with child before she was married.” The ladies listened solemnly to the paper Sarah “produced to this Meeting condemning the said action,” then they expelled her.

It was a trying time for Squire Boone and his wife. Exeter, a small settlement with little enough for diversion, kept few secrets. Nor was Sarah’s their only disgrace. “The Boones were active for good,” the Meeting book notes around this time, “but sometimes overcome with evil. Strong drink, so common, overcame one or more who had to be dealt with.”

Squire began thinking about leaving Pennsylvania. And though trouble with the Friends prodded him, it was not the only reason. His free spirit, his wanderlust, was at large again. He wanted to be where the forest was outside his front door.

Obviously Squire and Sarah placed their love for their daughter, their daughter’s happiness and her love for John Willcockson, above their formal connection with religion. It was a difficult situation, but they seem to have put family first and rallied together to survive against oppression.

The guides at the (now) Berks County, Pennsylvania, homestead of Squire Boone point out that the affair of John Willcockson and Sarah Boone was one of the events that drove the Boones from the Society of Friends. It was part of their narration in 1980 to relate that, when Squire finally made up his mind to leave Pennsylvania, he was so embittered by his neighbors’ attitudes that, on the day that he left, he made a pile of all of his belongings, which wouldn’t fit into the wagons, and burned them, rather than let his neighbors have them.

John and Sarah Boone Willcockson apparently accompanied her family to North Carolina, where John appears on the first known tax list that was compiled in 1759. Subsequent tax lists show the presence of others of the Willcockson family in North Carolina:<sup>20</sup>

The 1790 North Carolina tax list, which serves as a replacement for the destroyed 1790 Federal census, gives the following family groups for the Willcocksons, who resided in Salisbury District, Rowan County:<sup>21</sup>

Wilcoxson, William 3 white males over 16; 2 white males under 16;
2 white females; 2 slaves

John, Sen. 1 white male over 16; 1 white male under 16;
1 white female

John, Jun. 1 white male over 16; 4 white males under 16;
6 white females

John Willcockson (Willcoxson), Sr. was a constable in North Carolina. On 15 January 1760 Jacob Hunter was appointed "in the Room of John Wilcox, Rowan County." In 1768/9 John Willcockson was security on a bond when Samuel Hall sued George Willcockson (Wilcocks), weaver.<sup>22</sup>

John Willcockson, Sr. was not a member of the North Carolina Assembly in 1771, as stated in Burke's genealogy. John Willcox, who was a burgess to the North Carolina Assembly, was a representative from Chatham County and the son of Thomas Willcox of Concord, Pennsylvania, who died in North Carolina in 1793.<sup>23</sup>

The Rowan County land of Squire Boone was in the Yadkin River valley, on Bear Creek, in what is now Davie County. An historical marker denotes the site at a bridge over Bear Creek on US64, west of Mocksville. John Willcockson had two North Carolina grants for land on Bear Creek, which were recorded in Rowan County on 10 October 1783:<sup>24</sup>

The State grants (#342 at 50 shillings the 100 acres) to John Wilcockson 640 acres on both sides Bear Creek next ----- Bentley & Thomas Maxfield.

The State grants (#337 at 50 shillings the 100 acres) to John Wilcox 500 acres on Bear Creek next Benjamin Gaither.

North Carolina, let the deceased Abraham Weltey and his heirs have 520 acres on Bear Creek, next to Thomas Maxfield, for 300 pounds. The deed was witnessed by Benjamin Hodgens, Samuel Willcockson and Joseph Roland and proved by the last named in February 1788.<sup>25</sup> There was no wife's signature.

John Willcockson (Wilcockson) and Elizabeth (Elibeth) Welsh witnessed a deed on 12 September 1788 from William Hall of Rowan County, North Carolina, to William Willcockson (Wilcoxson) of Berks (Burkes) County, Pennsylvania, for 393 acres on the waters of Bear Creek, for 244 pounds current money of North Carolina.<sup>26</sup>

On 20 July 1795 John Willcockson, Sr. of Rowan County, North Carolina, let Daniel Lewis have 30 acres on Bear Creek, next to John Rowland, for 30 pounds. The deed was witnessed by Jacob Roland (sic) and Samuel Kaufman and proved by John Hendricks in August 1801.<sup>27</sup> There was no wife's signature. Daniel Lewis married Hannah Willcockson who probably was a sister of John Willcockson, Sr.

On 22 July 1795 Jacob Keller let John Willcockson (Wilcoxson), both of Rowan County, North Carolina, have 164 acres on both sides of Bear (Bare) Creek. next to the old survey of said Keller, for 100 pounds. The deed was witnessed by Elijah Renshaw and William Butler and proved by the latter in August 1795.<sup>28</sup>

On 26 August 1795 John Willcockson, Sr. sold to Jacob Keller, both of Rowan County, for 3 pounds North Carolina money, 4 acres on the east side of Bear Creek, which was part of a State Grant to John Willcockson, Sr. The deed was signed by John Willcockson with his mark and was witnessed by William Willcockson and William Butlar.<sup>29</sup>

On 26 February 1798 John Willcockson, Sr. let William Willcockson, both of Rowan County, North Carolina, have 165 acres on both sides of Bear Creek, next to Jacob Keller's half-mile branch, for 575 pounds. The deed was witnessed by Squire Willcockson and Samuel Willcockson and proved by the latter in May 1805.<sup>30</sup> On the same day, John Willcockson, Sr. conveyed to William Willcockson, both of Rowan County, for 150 pounds specie, 160 acres on Bear Creek, which adjoined Rowland's old line, now Edward Parker's, and Jacob Keller's (Keeler's) corner. The deed was signed by John with his mark and witnessed by Samuel Willcockson and Squire Willcockson. Samuel proved it in Rowan County Court in May 1805.<sup>31</sup>

These North Carolina deed transactions, and the 1790 tax list, indicate that John Willcockson, Sr. was alive in 1783 and as late as 1798, which disproves the claim, by some of the descendants of John Willcockson, that he was killed at Bryan's Station in 1782. The deeds which were proved by John Willcockson's son Samuel in 1805 indicate that John probably made the deeds out to his youngest son William in advance, but retained ownership until his death, between 1798 and 1805, at which time the deeds were presented into court.

John and Sarah Boone Willcockson came to Kentucky in 1779, with a family group,<sup>32</sup> where they apparently resided for a time at Boonesborough.<sup>33</sup> French Tipton, an early historian who was commissioned to prepare a history of Madison County, Kentucky, died before his collection was published. Among his collected research material is a list of persons at Fort Boonesborough which includes Sally Boone Wilcox, Billy Wilcox and Daniel Wilcoxson.<sup>34</sup> The residency there by John and

Sarah Boone Willcockson is accepted by the Society of Boonesborough.<sup>35</sup>

If John and Sarah Boone Willcockson were in Kentucky in 1779, they must have returned to North Carolina before 1783, when he was involved in land transactions there, and afterward. A letter by Jeremiah F. Willcoxon of Canton, Illinois, who wrote to Lyman C. Draper in 1861, states that John Willcockson died in Rowan County, North Carolina, and that Sarah Boone Willcockson died in Kentucky:<sup>36</sup>

March 28th, 1861

Mr. Draper

Dear Sir

I am a Son of Elijah Willcoxon deceased. I have just received a letter from you addressed to him. It becomes my painful duty to inform you that my Father is no more. He died the 3rd of last July in his 71st year, he was born July 28th, 1789.

You say you was informed that my Father was a Nephew of Col. Boon. He was

GrandNephew of Col Boon, being a Son of Samuel Willcoxon who was a Son of John and Sarah Willcoxon, formerly Sarah Boon a Sister of Col Boon. John Willcoxon & Sarah Boon was married in North Carolina [we are not in possession of the date]

He died in Rowan County N. Carolina, after which She removed to Kentucky with her GrandSon [Jesse Boon Willcoxon] with whom she lived till her death which took place in the year 1818, at the age of about 97 years.

GrandFather Samuel Willcoxon married Anna Jordon [the date we have not], they were married in N. Carolina and afterwards removed to Kentucky where he died in the year 1825 at the age of 71 years.

GrandMother came to Illinois with my Father and remained with us till she died in the year 1880 [?] at the age of 84 years. Mother Says she thinks Col. Boon never revisited Kentucky after he settled in Missouri. [Illegible sentence - BW; the letter continues] 3rd Uncle Jesse B. Willcoxon lived in Madison County, Ky., he is not living he has been dead about thirty five years. 4th John Willcoxens Children are none living. 5th Grandfathers Brother Daniel died in Kentucky but we do not know whether he was the one you refer to or not we do not know any thing of his family.

I do not remember to have heard Father relate any important Facts about Col. Boon but what is generally known. I am not acquainted with Richard Osbourne but I will make some inquiries after him & should I see him I will do as you request.

Very Respectfully Yours

J. F. Willcoxon

The age of 97, attributed to Sarah in 1814, cannot be correct since it calculates to a birth year of 1717 and she was born in 1724. Her age at death was given as 91 in a death notice of Daniel Boone, which, coupled with her birth year, calculates to a death year of 1815.<sup>37</sup>

Subsequently, Jeremiah F. Willcockson identified the children of John and Sarah Boone Willcockson in a second letter to Draper:<sup>38</sup>

Mr. Draper - Dear Sir:

I received yours of the 5th inst and will proceed to answer your questions as nearly as Mother can remember. (as we are not in possession of the family record so far back) 1st. Grandfather had 6 Brothers and 4 sisters all older than himself except one and his name was William. The names of the older ones were John, George, Isaac, Daniel, Jr., Israel (Israel was killed by the Indians at Boonesborough, Ky.) Elizabeth, she married Benjamin Cutbirth, Mary married Walker, Rachel married William Bryant, Sarah married Thomas Hagans. 2nd Great grandfather was a native of Wales. 3rd Uncle Jesse B. Willcoxon lived in Madison County Ky he is not living he has been dead about thirty five years 4th John Willcoxon's children are none living 5th Grandfather's Brother Daniel died in Kentucky but we do not know whether he was the one you refer to or not We do not know anything of his family.

Very respectfully Yours

J. F. Willcoxon

The reference to Daniel Willcockson as "Jr." undoubtedly reflects his juniority to Daniel Boone.

Since Jesse Boone Willcockson lived in Madison County, Kentucky, that apparently is where Sarah Boone Willcockson died.

It was stated that Sarah Boone Willcockson (Wilcoxson), oldest sister of Daniel Boone, died in Madison County, Kentucky, in 1815, in an application for membership in the Sons of the American Revolution, but the applicant incorrectly claimed that she was born in Berks County, Pennsylvania, on 18 June 1724, when Berks County was not formed from Lancaster County until 1752 and, furthermore, Squire Boone resided in Bucks County, Pennsylvania, in 1724. The applicant also stated that Sarah Boone and John Willcockson (Wilcoxson) were married in Berks County in 1742. He mistakenly claimed that John was born in Rowan County, North Carolina, in 1720 and declared that he was killed on 19 August 1782 in Fayette County, Kentucky, while defending Bryan's (Bryant's) Station, and is buried in Fayette County.<sup>39</sup> This application was based on the prior membership of the applicant's grandfather<sup>40</sup> and reference is given to the Daughters of the American Revolution Patriot Index, 1966, and the Sons of the American Revolution Magazine, Fall 1984, but the magazine article, which deals with the siege of Bryan's Station and the subsequent Battle of Blue Licks, does not mention John Willcockson.

The applicant, who descends from John and Sarah Boone Willcockson through Hiram Bryant, son of William and Rachel Willcockson Bryant, does not have proof of the appearance or death of John Willcockson at Bryan's Station. The application gives the birth date of Rachel Willcockson as 1770 in Rowan County, North Carolina, and her death date as about 1821 in Callaway County, Missouri. William Bryant is shown as being born in Wales in 1739 and as dying in Boone County, Missouri, on 06 September 1834. They were married in Rowan County in 1790.<sup>41</sup>

After the death of Rachel Willcockson Bryant, William married (2) Nancy Wood.<sup>42</sup>

It has been stated that Sarah Boone Willcockson died about 1815 in Estill County, Kentucky.<sup>43</sup> Estill County was formed from parts of Clark and Madison counties in 1808.

JOHN WILLCOCKSON

David Willcockson, who was not included in the list of children of John and Sarah Boone Willcockson by Jeremiah F. Willcoxon, was identified as a son of John Willcockson and a nephew of Daniel Boone by George Bryan, who came to Kentucky, from North Carolina, in 1775, with David and Daniel Willcockson:<sup>44</sup> 30 men of us came out in 1775 - it was 1776 when we got here.

1. Daniel Wilcox, nephew of Col. Boon.
2. David Wilcox, son of John W., nephew of Col. Boon. ...
15. Geo: Bryan - myself ...

Although this recollection was in her book, Dorothy Wulfeck did not include David in the list of children of John Willcockson and Sarah Boone. She associated the reference with David Willcockson, son of George Willcockson and Elizabeth Hall, apparently in error, since the identification is clearly stated in the quotation. Furthermore, David, son of George, married (1) Ellender Boone and (2) Janet Pemberton and died in Franklin County, Kentucky, about 1815.<sup>45</sup> The wife of David, son of John, who was born on 22 October 1742 in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania and died on 25 February 1832, was named Kezia, according to a descendant of Benjamin Cutbirth and Elizabeth Willcockson, who visited the Pennsylvania homestead of the Morgan family in 1978.<sup>46</sup>

Apparently David Willcockson, son of John, was taxed in Madison County, Kentucky, in 1789, while David Willcockson, son of George, was taxed in Fayette County:<sup>47</sup>

Wilcocks, Aaron	Fayette	7/24/1789
Wilcocks, Daniel	Fayette	7/24/1789
Wilcocks, David	Madison	1789
Wilcocks, Ruth	Fayette	7/24/1789
Willcocks, David	Fayette	12/ /1789

Ruth Willcockson (Wilcocks) was the widow of Isaac Willcockson, who died before 10 October 1783 when Ruth Willcockson received grant #257, from the State of North Carolina, for 320 acres adjoining the land of James Noland. She was living in Rowan County in 1787 and taxed in Fayette County, Virginia, on 24 July 1789. In a power of attorney, given to William Willcockson of Wilkes County, North Carolina, in 1790, she was shown as a resident of Rowan County. On 06 August 1795, Ruth Willcockson and her son, Joseph, of Woodford County, Kentucky, gave a power of attorney to John Clifford of Rowan County, North Carolina, to sell their property there. On 07 October 1797 Clifford sold 200 acres, on the waters of Dutchman Creek, to John McMahan for them. Joseph Willcockson (Wilcox) and his mother Ruth Willcockson (Wilcox) were identified as residents of Shelby County, Kentucky, in a deed from Isaac and Bethia Larue of Hardin County, Kentucky, for 200 acres on Buck Run in Shelby County, on 13 November 1799. Other Shelby County deeds, in which the name is spelled Wilcox, show joint interest in the same property by Joseph Willcockson, William Congleton and Daniel Bromley.<sup>48</sup>

The 1790 tax list suggests that David Willcockson, son of John, stayed in the vicinity of Boonesborough. He apparently moved from Kentucky before 1800, when only one David was taxed in the state:<sup>49</sup>

David Willcockson, son of George, apparently lived near Bryant's Station. On 19 April 1799, David Willcockson (Wilcox), who was described as of full age, made a deposition at the tavern of Captain Hunter in Georgetown, Kentucky, relative to a law suit. He stated that in year 1779 he went ... from Lexington on an expedition against the Shawnee Indians under the command of Colonel John Bowman and ... passed through or near the Lick now called Eastin's Lick ... that a few days after he returned from said expedition he and one Lockhart went ... from Bryant's Station ... to hunt ... camped about ten days near half a mile nearly west from said lick ... Since 1779 he had resided in Fayette and mostly in Woodford counties. In a deposition, taken in the same case, at Robert Megowan's Tavern in Lexington, on 29 April 1799, Thomas Herndon stated that David Wilcox, and others from Bryant's station, described the area to him in 1780. Finally, on 08 June 1804, David Willcockson (Wilcoxson) deposed in Woodford County that he passed Eagle Creek on a campaign against the Indians in 1779, but that, before the expedition, in the spring of 1779, he had camped about a mile from the head spring of Eagle Creek. In 1780 he hunted, out from Bryant's Station, around the spring, which was sometimes called Big Spring.<sup>50</sup> Due to the statement of residency, these depositions apparently pertain to David Willcockson, son of George.

It seems likely that George Willcockson, son of John Willcockson and Sarah Boone, was the George who married Elizabeth Beam in Rowan County, North Carolina, on 20 October 1767, with John Willcockson, George Boone and George Willcockson as signatories on the bond, either as witnesses or sureties. It is difficult to sort the various records involving George Willcockson, because his uncle, George Willcockson, married Elizabeth Hall, and his cousin, George Willcockson, Jr., married Elizabeth Pinchbeck.<sup>51</sup> The published Wilcoxson genealogy does not include a family record for George Willcockson and Elizabeth Beam, who may have moved to Sevier County, Tennessee, where the will of George Willcockson, dated 16 April 1799 and naming his wife Elizabeth and children as legatees, is recorded:<sup>52</sup>

In the Name of God, Amen. I George Willcockson of the State of Tennessee and _____ of the County of Sevier, being old ... do make ... this my last will and Testament ... First I give and bequeath to Elizabeth my dearly beloved wife one negro woman named Nan, likewise all my household furniture except one good bed after my death while she remains a widow. And likewise one half of the old plantation while she remains a widow, and after her death or marriage the negro woman and land is to be given unto my son George and the household furniture to be sold and equally divided between my Children Mary McKinny, Sarah Campbell, Catharine Willcockson, Rebecca McKinny, David Willcockson and George Willcockson; and my moveable property, such as Horses, Cows, Hogs, and Sheep, Plantation tools of all kinds if they cannot divide it amongst themselves. And ... I do give to Mary McKinny fifty Dollars to be paid in property, Ten Dollars a year till paid ... I give to my Daughter Sarah Campbell forty Dollars to be paid in property ten dollars a year till paid. To my Daughter Rebecca McKinny thirty dollars in property ten dollars a year till paid and the remainder part of the property to be equally divided between David, George, Catharine and her two Children, James and John; and to my son David Willcockson I give my mill and Stills, and the land and possessions to the fence above the mill dam and with the fence till it strikes the Road that leads to William Goforth and all the land to the river one negro man named Dick excepting fifty dollars to be paid out of that to Diana Carter, Nancy Stropes youngest child; and if he refuses to pay to the said Diana Carter at the age of sixteen years, then fifty-dollars worth of the lands to be sold and to raise the fifty Dollars for said Diana Carter and to my son George Willcockson I give my old plantation with the tavern and all my lands adjoining it, and likewise the negro woman before mentioned ...

... And I likewise give to the said Diana Carter my house and lot in the Town of Dandridge, and all other out-land is to be sold and to be divided between David, George, Catharine and her two Children James and John: And I appoint my wife Elizabeth and Jeremiah Mathes my sole Executors ... In witness whereof I have set my hand and seal this sixteenth day of April in the year of our Lord One Thousand seven hundred and ninety nine

Signed sealed, pronounced and declared by the said George Willcockson ... in the presence of us ...

The bequests to Diana Carter infer a close relationship of some kind but it has not been determined.

Elizabeth Woolfolk, who married Joseph Willcockson (Wilcox), was a daughter of Joseph Woolfolk. She was born 11 October 1784 in Virginia and died 06 December 1851 in Randolph County, Missouri.

William Congleton III, who married Margaret Willcockson (Wilcox), was born about 1771 in Beaufort County, North Carolina, and died before 1850 in Wolfe County, Kentucky. He was married first to Martha Allison on 24 August 1792 in Bourbon County, Kentucky. Margaret Wilcox Congleton is buried at the mouth of Buck Creek in Wolfe County, Kentucky.<sup>53</sup>

Benjamin and Elizabeth Willcockson Cutbirth are buried on the Elke River in Tennessee. After losing title to his lands in Kentucky, Cutbirth returned to North Carolina, with his brother-in-law Samuel Willcockson, and then went to Tennessee. Much information about Benjamin Cutbirth, who was one of the Long Hunters and companions of Daniel Boone, is contained in letters from Elijah Calloway and his son James Calloway, to Lyman C. Draper.<sup>54</sup> Benjamin Cutbirth is also mentioned in a novel.<sup>55</sup>

Elijah Calloway, who married Mary Cutbirth, was a son of Thomas Calloway. He was born on 12 October 1769 in Bedford County, Virginia, and died on 03 March 1847. Elijah and Mary Cutbirth Calloway settled on the south fork of the New River in Ashe County, North Carolina, ten miles south of Jefferson. They are buried in the Faw-Calloway cemetery in Ashe County, where their tombstones give his birth and death dates and her death date, when she was aged 73 years.

The name Cutbirth (Cutbeard) probably is a variation of Cuthbert.

Israel Willcockson probably came to Kentucky in the wagon train with his parents. He obtained a preemption for 400 acres of land, upon which he settled in April 1779 and made an improvement. The tract, which contained a spring, was located between Lawrence Creek and the middle and upper roads from Lower Blue Licks to Limestone (Maysville), about ten miles from the licks and two miles from William McConnell's. Israel assigned the preemption to Levi Todd. Israel was killed, and his brother Daniel escaped, when Indians attacked them as they were plowing outside of the fort at Bryan's Station in 1781.<sup>56</sup>

Samuel Willcockson probably died in Estill County, Kentucky. He is buried in a cemetery next to St. Helen's Grade School in Lee County, Kentucky, which was formed partly from Estill County. Among the flat fieldstone markers, beside the remains of an Indian mound, in a grove of old beech trees, only one is inscribed:

Here Lies The Body of Samuel Willcockson
Born 1755                      Died N V R 1825

The date of death is crudely engraved but the rest of the inscription was carved in beautiful and precise Gothic letters.<sup>57</sup>

The date of birth conflicts with Daniel Willcockson's stated birth date of 13 March 1755.

Sarah Tatum, who married Squire Willcockson, was a daughter of James Tatum, whose will was dated in 1822 and was probated in Ashe County, North Carolina, in 1828. After serving in the War of 1812, as a militia captain in North Carolina, Squire Willcockson moved to Estill County, Kentucky, about 1815 and to Fulton County, Illinois in 1828.<sup>58</sup>

Samuel Willcockson apparently moved from Ashe County, North Carolina, where he was enumerated on the 1810 census as aged 26-45, to Carter County, Tennessee, where he appears on the 1830 census, aged 50-60, and the 1850 census, aged 70, with wife Martha, aged 68.

Charlotte Calloway, who married Elijah Willcockson, was a daughter of Elijah Calloway and Mary Cutbirth. She was born on 01 April 1792 in North Carolina and died on 18 June 1875. Elijah Willcockson, whose descendants spelled their name Wilcoxon, served in the War of 1812 and was a lieutenant and captain in the Black Hawk War. Elijah and Charlotte moved to Kentucky, where he farmed from 1815 to 1830, when they moved to Illinois. They are buried in the Wilcoxon Cemetery near Bryant, Illinois, where their tombstones contain their birth and death dates. His is marked, Renaldo (Renalder) Walker was a son of Nathaniel and Elizabeth Walker.

Moses Gatliff who married Polly Walker was a son of Captain Charles Gatliff and Christina McGuire. Margaret Bishop who married Jesse Walker was a daughter of William and Jane Bishop. Margaret Goodwin (Goodin) who married Nathaniel Walker was a daughter of John Goodwin. James Brock Sears who married Jane Walker was a son of John Sears and Nancy Brock. William Thomas Swift who married Rachel Walker was a son of Flower Swift and Mary Bledsoe (Bedsoul). George Wilcox Walker never married and left his estate to two unmarried children of his brother Pleasant.<sup>61</sup>

Renaldo and Mary Willcockson Walker lived in Claiborne County, Tennessee, near Cumberland Gap, when their son Pleasant Walker was born on 08 March 1796.<sup>62</sup>

Due to the similarity of their surnames, which are spelled interchangeably in variants, William Bryant who married Rachel Willcockson may have been a nephew of William Bryan, who married Mary Boone, sister of Sarah Boone Willcockson, about 1755, in Rowan County, North Carolina. William Bryan, who, with his brothers, built Bryan's Station near Lexington, Kentucky, was born in 1733 and died on 07 May 1780 in Kentucky, from wounds received from Indians on 01 May 1780, while on a hunting expedition. William Bryan, Jr., was killed by the Indians, when his father was mortally wounded.<sup>65</sup>

In applying for a Revolutionary War pension, William Bryant made a declaration in Boone County, Missouri, Circuit Court, on 25 June 1833, that he was aged 79 and that he was born in Orange County, North Carolina, in 1754. He volunteered into the militia in Rowan County, North Carolina, on 10 February 1780, and was sent to Goose Creek, about thirty miles from Charleston, to guard prisoners, wagons and munitions. Here he was captured by a scouting party belonging to Tarlton's dragoons. He served eight months as a private and did not explain how he was released from captivity. In January 1781, he turned out under Captain Hemphill to chase Tories and his unit joined with General Green for the Battle of Guilford Court House, North Carolina. On 30 March 1781 he enlisted as a private in the Regular Army under Captain John Dial and was discharged in 1782. Afterward he lived in Fayette, Madison, Estill and Montgomery counties, Kentucky, and in Calloway and Boone counties, Missouri.<sup>66</sup> Family tradition reports that, after he was captured, William Bryant was placed on board a prison ship in Charleston harbor, from which he escaped by jumping overboard and swimming ashore to rejoin his military unit.

JOHN WILLCOCKSON

This declaration disproves the family tradition, held by some, that confuses William Bryant, who married Rachel Willcockson, with William Bryan of Bryan's Station. It indicates that William Bryant probably was not at Bryan's Station before 1782. It also refutes the published statements that William Bryant was born in Wales in 1739; that he came to America in 1764; that he served in the Revolutionary War for two and a quarter years in Blount's Company, beginning on 26 April 1778; and that he was a captain under Colonel Todd and Colonel Boone during the Revolution in Kentucky.

In his will, dated 27 September 1824, William Bryant of Boone County, Missouri, mentioned his wife Nancy, sons Henry, Thomas, Benjamin, Hurum, Jeremiah, William and George, and a daughter Elizabeth Shifflet. The estate was administered by John Ellis, who listed the known legatees of William Bryant, on 29 September 1845, as the heirs of Hiram (sic) Bryant of Boone County, Henry Bryant of the same place, Susan Hutcherson of unknown residence, Hiram (sic) Bryant of Kentucky, who supposedly was dead, Thomas Bryant and Ben Bryant, both of unknown residence, and three or four children, whose names are not known, by a second marriage.<sup>67</sup> The first Hiram must have been intended to be Hurum.

Benjamin Bryant apparently lived in Polk County, Iowa.<sup>68</sup>

Jeremiah Bryant died of cholera on 11 July 1834, en route from Kentucky to Missouri and his body was sunk in Missouri River.

It has been said, without documentation, that John Willcockson and Sarah Boone had a daughter Nancy who married Benjamin Greer. Benjamin Greer and Nancy Willcockson had a son William Greer who married Hannah Cartwright and had a daughter Aley Greer. Unmarried Aley Greer had a son L. Will Greer who married Janey Church and had a daughter Daney Greer. Daney Greer told her granddaughter, when young, that Nancy Willcockson Greer was a niece of Daniel Boone. It has been said that Benjamin Green and Nancy Willcockson also had a son Vincent David Greer who married Nancy Hodges, daughter of Thomas Hodges and Nancy Norris.<sup>69</sup>
